BOND CASE SET FOR WEDNESDAY

AMARILLO COURT OF CIVIL APPEALS TO GIVE ROAD BOND ISSUE HEARING

The Wilbarger County case attacking the validity of the $150,000 road bond issue voted in special road district No. 4 is set for a hearing in the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo Wednesday, according to the firm of Berry, Stokes & Killough, defense attorneys. No attorneys on either side will attend the Amarillo hearing, it was announced Monday by W. N. Stokes.

Suit was brought against County Judge J. V. Townsend and others in an effort to set aside the bonds voted for the improvement of the Colorado-Gulf highway between Harold and Oklahoma, and attack was made on the legal status of the district generally.

The case was brought to trial twice. On June 2, 1924, with Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls sitting as special judge, the suit was dismissed and the injunction dissolved. When an appeal was made, the case was returned for a new trial.

On January 30 of this year, the case came up before Judge J. V. Leek, and the county again won a sweeping decision. The case was again appealed.

Wilbarger County now has approximately twenty miles of paved highways, and the road between Harold and the county line east is now being paved. This will add almost seven miles of hard-surfaced road to the county's total. Should the county win in the suit at Amarillo, the nine miles between Oklahoma and Harold will be paved. The road was recently graded and prepared for paving.

Plaintiffs named in the petition filed in the Forty-Sixth District Court and who later appealed in an effort to set aside the bonds voted for the pavement of the stretch between Oklahoma and Harold are: C. C. Hawley, A. M. Hiatt, R. L. Castlebury, Lon Byars, F. B. Wright, Omar Thieme, W. E. Gandy, A. C. Boger and H. L. Harrell.

AVIATION OFFICER TELLS OF AIR SERVICE CONDITIONS IN UNITED STATES POSSESSIONS

Washington, Nov. 10, (A-P)—The government's air policies both at home and in far-off American possessions were assailed today in defense testimony before the Mitchell court martial.

Captain Robert Oldys, of the air service, called to support Colonel Mitchell's charge of near treasonable disregard of national interests in aviation declared he had in his possession a letter written by the American minister to Guatemala in 1923, warning of a scheme by "alien interests" to establish a foothold in Central America, near the Panama Canal.

The minister, the witness said, unsuccessfully urged the Washington government to establish an air mail service to Central America.

Captain Oldys also quoted at length from the aviation report presented in 1923 by the Lasser board of army officers, containing recommendations for air defense of the Philippines and Hawaii which the witness said had been approved by the Secretary of War, but never carried into effect.

This report, he said, described the situation in the air service as "unfortunate and critical."

Captain Oldys told the court that while he was stationed in Hawaii there were so many forced landings and airplane crashes that there was a threat to hold pilots financially responsible for the loss of their craft.

When the captain said there were no tactical air units on the Pacific Coast, Major General Howze, president of the court, asked:

"Has Rockwell Field been abandoned?"

"There is a depot there."

"Any flying personnel?"

"Only a dozen officers. They test machine turned out of the depot."

The witness said he had recommended that aviators be transferred to the Pacific Coast, but the general staff did not approve the recommendation.

General Howze asked him if he thought the general staff ought to be guided by his recommendations.

"As the general staff is at present constituted I do, sir," Captain Oldys replied.

Then Brigadier General Boish asked Captain Oldys how he would organize the general staff.

"The same as Colonel Mitchell," the captain said.

Captain Oldys, recalled by the defense in the court martial of Colonel William Mitchell, testified at today's session that the strength of overseas air service garrisons on September 30 was: Hawaii 85 officers and 930 men; Panama 58 and 678; and the Philippines 57 and 621.

Major H. H. Arnold, in charge of the information division of the air service, testified that there were 38 air service deaths in 1924 and 45 this far in 1925. The official record showed the causes to be fire, lack of weather information, collapse of the craft in the air, and motor failures.

Everything is set for the opening of the Dixie Lyceum Course which is to stage the initial number at the High School auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Lowell Patton and his artists, Gault Patton and Ludovic Hunt are in Vernon awaiting the hour of opening.

This number of the lyceum course is to be followed by others rendered by equally well-known artists and lecturers.

CHURCH DIRECTORS FAVOR WARM-BLOODED EXECUTION

Denver, Colo., Nov. 10, (AP)—The board of directors of a Denver church have officially voted in favor of a "warm-blooded execution" for Barney Haughey, prominent attorney and politician, who is suffering from a malignant disease, providing Haughey is found to be incurable and desirous of dying, and a way can be found to take such action legally.

The directors voted on the question at the request of Haughey, who lies in a hospital while physicians battle for his life. Haughey is a member of the institution, the Liberal Church, which, according to its bishop, Frank H. Rice, has members in every state in the Union.

Bishop Rice announced that the directors voted "an official act of the church" favoring "the warm-blooded killing, based on our love and affection for Barney Haughey."

Haughey is 67 years old and was an independent candidate for mayor of Denver at the last election.

Sheriff Arrests Five Hi-Jackers Monday Evening

Single-handed, Sheriff W. Frank Edmondson Monday evening about 6:30 o'clock captured and lodged in jail five alleged hi-jackers who have been operating near the Fort Worth & Denver City railroad tracks. The sheriff acted on a tip received late Monday afternoon.

The gang had over-powered and robbed a negro, had and impersonated officers, searched a number of men and ordered them to leave town or suffer the consequence of the law. The men offered no resistance when faced by the local sheriff. It developed that two of men were arrested last year by local officers on similar charges.

Because the white men robbed left town as directed by the men, while they were impersonating officers, and there is no one but the negro to prosecute, local officials have decided to find the quintet for vagrancy, and charges of this sort were entered in the county court Tuesday, according to Sheriff Edmondson.

Upon searching the quintet after the arrest, officers found money hidden in practically every part of the men's clothing.

BESSIE LOVE IS BUSIEST WOMAN IN HOLLYWOOD

"The busiest little star in Hollywood."

That's the nickname motion picture folk have given to Bessie Love, who plays the part of Mary Roberts opposite Glenn Hunter in Frank Lloyd's production of "The Silent Watcher," to be shown at the Vernon Theatre Wednesday and Thursday and Bessie deserves the title.

Because of her diminutive stature and versatility and true demureness, Miss Love seldom has more than a few days between pictures. It has been more than five years since she has had a vacation.

Quite frequently a picture star or featured player is employed in two productions at the same time because one picture may take longer to produce than originally intended and another must start on schedule, but just prior to taking up her work in "The Silent Watcher," Miss Love found herself working in three pictures at the same time, two in one studio and a third at another studio 15 miles away, and a long location trip to El Paso to be made the most of.

Before Miss Love had finished with "Woman on the Jury," she had to take up leading parts in "Those Who Dance" and "Sundown" as well.

To permit her to take in all three pictures at one time, the producers arranged their schedules so that the little actress spent the morning on one set, the afternoon on another and then worked in the third picture in the evening, sometimes well into the wee small hours.

Thomas Meighan is closing a two-day run here in "The Man Who Found Himself."

"THE TEASER" TO BE AT PICTORIUM WEDNESDAY

"Don't flirt with married men—no matter how innocent the pastime may be." This is the lesson, very seriously expounded, that is taught in "The Teaser," Universal's rollicking new comedy romance, starring Laura La Plante with Pat O'Malley in the leading male role and to be at the Pictorium Wednesday. It is a rapid fire tale of tribulations that surround a flapper who draws the fires of an angry lover and a group of jealous wives. Hedda Hooper, Wyndham Standing, Walter McGrail, Vivian Oakland and a large cast of well-known artists appear in the new offering.

"Sun-Up" is closing a two-day run today, Tuesday, at the Pictorium. A story of the mountain folks and their lawlessness, loves and hates. A gripping story, and the hero is a man who served in the World War.

NEW GUARDIAN NAMED FOR YOUNG POETRESS

New York, Nov. 10. (AP)—In proceedings attributed by associates to unwarranted doubts of her ability, a new guardian has been appointed for Nathalia Crane, 12-year-old Brooklyn poetess, who has published three volumes and gained world-wide recognition as a prodigy.

Edward J. Flanagan, a Brooklyn lawyer, was appointed special guardian yesterday upon representation in surrogate's court that her father, Clarence P. Crane, who was appointed her guardian in April, 1924, had failed to make an accounting for more than $500 in royalties, although two volumes have run into large ales here and abroad. Mr. Crane said he had made an agreement to make an accounting today and could not understand the court's sudden action yesterday. Surrogate Wingate said the proceedings were a routine technicality.

The new government cotton crop estimate and growers' report was issued yesterday and the large estimate of the total yield for the year was still further increased, with the result that cotton prices took another tumble. New York quotations dropped $5 a bale, while New Orleans went one better for a $6 decline.

It must be admitted that there is some warrant for the Government's prediction of a big crop. The actual gainings are a disturbing factor for those who charge the estimates are padded. With nearly eleven million bales already ginned, it is difficult to see how it is possible for the total crop to fall very much under the estimate.

The remedy for the present low cotton prices does not lie in an attack upon the integrity of the Government reports. Neither will the threats of the politicians against Wall Street profit us anything. We have heard all this before and will doubtless hear much of it in the future.

It is possible, even with a bumper crop, to strengthen the cotton market. The available supply and the anticipated needs of the spinners between now and the time a new crop will come on the market are not such as would warrant the present low prices, according to well informed in the cotton trade. The real trouble is that we have formed the habit of dumping a whole year's supply of cotton on the market in the space of three or four months of the year, with disastrous results for the growers.

Orderly marketing is the only thing that will effectively strengthen the market. There are other factors that have to do with the handling of cotton, protecting it from the weather, proper picking and ginning, but they have only negligible effect. It is too late now to accomplish very much in the way of organizing an orderly system of marketing. Too much of the crop has already passed out of the hands of the producers. But it is possible to launch a holding movement. If the producers would refuse to sell a single bale for two weeks, they would see a decided difference in the market. If they would hold off thirty days, no doubt the prediction of 20-cent cotton would be a reality.

Twenty-five cent cotton is not out of the question, but the farmers themselves must be the ones who bring it about. As long as they sell as soon as their cotton is ginned, we may expect low prices.

DEMOCRACY AT WORK

A sport writer in a metropolitan daily paper was calling over the list of the outstanding football stars in the North and East this year. Here are the names of the men he mentioned: Grange, Kutsch, Friedman, Morek, Krueger, Rogers, Sieracki, McKinley and Oberlander.

These men are not rough-neck wrestlers. They are attending the great universities of the North and East, universities that boast of proud traditions, distinguished educators and social leadership. But in this list of football players, this sport authority's pick of the eleven best in the country this year, there are only two whose names could reasonably be called Anglo-Saxon. The others indicate an ancestry ranging from the frozen north of the Scandinavian Peninsula to the sunny countries that lie around the Mediterranean.

But now they are all Americans. At least they are sufficiently American to be accepted as students in the greatest universities of the country. The democracy of sports knows no class, except the class of ability and courage. These men are on their respective teams because they can play football and play it better than the average of their fellow-students.

Also these men must rank high as students in order to retain their places on the football team. It is not a question of mere brute strength or ability as mere physical points.

Nothing could provide a better explanation of the greatness of American. In old countries of the world much emphasis is placed on ancestry. A man cannot expect to get ahead and win recognition unless he is able to present a record of having come from one of the so-called best families. But in America it is different. All we demand to know of a man is what kind of a man he is and what can he do. It doesn't matter much if his father is a head carrier, a fruit vendor or abanok president. We judge them all by the same standard. If he can deliver the goods that is all we are interested in. If he can't, we don't care what his father did or who his grandfather was.

Of course, there are some among us who try to raise the standard of class, the aristocracy of name. There is but one aristocracy worthy of consideration and that is the aristocracy of service and character. And these football teams are strangely like the every-day business world. The man who has the ability and character can get recognition in America in spite of all the appeals to race prejudice.

CHILLICOTHE DEFEATS JUNIOR HIGH CUBS 6 TO 0

Fighting valiantly though greatly outnumbered, Coach Robbins' Cubs from Junior High School Monday afternoon were defeated by the Chillicothe gridders by a score of 6-0. Chillicothe pushed over the winning touchdown late in the third quarter after a grueling battle that sent the ball up and down the field, with both teams fighting on an even footing.

Dobbins' Club threatened seriously at two periods during the game, but were unable to force their heavier opponents back over the final white line. Early in the second quarter the Cubs reached Chillicothe's eight-yard line, but there lost the ball on downs. In the final period the local players sent the oval down to the visitors three-yard line, and again lost it on downs.

Miss Thelma Smith has returned from a short visit to Chillicothe where she spent the latter part of last week with relatives.

STOCKS-BONDS.

New York.
New York, Nov. 10, (AP)—A dramatic collapse in stock prices took place on the New York stock exchange shortly after midday when a flood of selling orders was hurled at recent speculative favorites, more than a dozen issues being carried down five to nearly thirty points. Chrysler Motors fell 27 1/4 points, DuPont 18 1/4 and U. S. Steel Iron Pipe and Hudson Motor about ten each before the end of the third hour.

COTTON.

New York.
New York, Nov. 10.—Cotton futures opened steady. December 19.64; January 19.65; March 19.23; May 19.08; July 18.55.
The severe break in the cotton market yesterday on the increased estimates of the crop was followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations at the opening today. Liverpool was better than due, however, and after opening unchanged to 8 points higher, the local market held fairly steady on covering, trade buying and moderate commission house demand. The later was probably encouraged by private cables reporting an absence of hedge selling in Liverpool and Memphis advices claiming that spot holders in the South were following yesterday's decline in futures.

January contracts fluctuated between 19.00 and 19.13 during the first hour with the general market showing net advances of 4 to 10 points.
The market later worked up to 19.26 for January, or about 22 to 26 points net higher, on covering by recent sellers which appeared to be supplied with trade and investment buying. Offerings increased on the advance, however and prices eased off later in the morning with the market fairly steady around mid-day.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Nov. 10.—Cotton steady; December 18.70; January 18.76; March 18.70; May 18.69; July 18.51.
The cotton market opened steady. First trades showed gains of 5 to 15 points owing to better cables than due. Prices eased off right after the call, December trading down to 18.64, January 18.65 and March to 18.57.
Good trade buying soon caused a rally of 9 to 13 points from the lows, the recovery being helped by the forecast for cloudy weather, which might mean a return of rain. Trading was quite active from the start. The market bulged about the middle of the morning on good trade buying based on the fear of the large discount on low grades and the consequent premium on good grades. December premium on good grades, December traded up to 18.56, January 18.64 and March 18.51.

Towards noon, the market broke again, losing 14 to 27 points, the March position making a new low record at 18.54. The slump was due to the sharp weakness in stocks. The exchange here will be closed tomorrow, Armistice Day, being a legal holiday in Louisiana. New York and Liverpool will be open as usual.

Liverpool.

Liverpool, Nov. 10, (AP)—Cotton spot steady. Strictly good middling 10.95; good middling 10.70; strictly middling 10.50; middling 10.20; strictly low middling 9.90; low middling 9.65; strictly good ordinary 9.25; good ordinary 8.95. Sales 6,000 bales, 2200 American; receipts 10,000 bales, 14,500 American.

GRAIN.

Chicago.
Chicago, Nov. 10.—Influenced more or less by reports of appreciable damage from heavy hail storms in Argentina, the wheat market averaged a little higher today during the early dealings. Opening prices, 1/2c lower to 1/2c higher, new style, December 1.48 1/2 to 1.48 3/4, and May 1.43 1/2 to 1.43 3/4, were followed by a moderate general setback and then an upturn, December touching 1.49 1/2 and May 1.44 1/2.
Corn was inclined to sag owing to bearish forecasts of the government changed to 3c off, December 75 1/2 to 75 3/4, the market showed slight losses. Oats were steady by the firmness of wheat. Starting unchanged to a shade lower, December 38 1/2 to 38 3/4, the market held near to initial figures.
Lower quotations on hogs acted as a weight on the provision market.

Kansas City.

Kansas City, Nov. 10.—Wheat No. 2 hard 1.56 to 1.57; No. 2 red 1.65 to 1.67.
Corn No. 3 white 83 to 86; No. 2 yellow 87 to 90.
Oats No. 2 white 39 1/4 to 39 1/2; No. 3 white 38 1/2 to 39.

Evelyn Lenora Franklin Wins Prize in "Old Ironside" Theme Contest at Junior High School

Evelyn Lenora Franklin, daughter of W. A. Franklin, principal of the high school, won the prize offered for the student writing the best theme on "Old Ironsides" in the Junior High school. Evelyn is in the seventh grade. The theme follows:

"Old Ironsides"
"Nearly every family I am sure has one heirloom which they treasure very much. It may be a gun or sword used by some of the ancestors in previous wars. The United States like a large family also has many old relics which are treasured by the people. The old relic I am writing about should be very much treasured because it was built at the time when the United States was a struggling little republic. It was built in 1817. "There were some pirates down on the coast of Tripoli along the Mediterranean Sea that would capture the ships, take all the crew and cargo and then turn the ship into a boat of their own type. They would, also, demand a large amount of money to leave the ships alone and not take its crew and cargo as previously described. When they learned of the United States they sent a written statement demanding a large amount of money or they would make war on everyone of our ships that came that way. Now nearly all of the countries had been paying these pirates a nice sum of money but the United States was a young republic and she didn't have much money to give to pirates; so instead of sending a bag of gold or silver she sent the "Constitution" down there to see if she could straighten things out. When the "Constitution" came back she had straightened matters out considerably and had also taught the pirates that we not only taught the pirates the respect of all the nations but we were able to protect our commerce on the seas.

The next war was with the British Frigate "Guerriere." The "Constitution" met this ship in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and war was begun as quick as a favorable position was obtained. When a cannon ball was shot at the "Constitution" it would not go through but would hit the side of the ship and bounce off into the water and that is how the "Constitution" got its nickname "Old Ironsides." Thirty minutes after the battle began, the "Guerriere" was in a sinking condition and was burned. This war surprised the world and the people of Great Britain were humiliated, while American patriotism was aroused to the highest pitch.

"The British Frigate 'Java' was, also, captured off the coast of Brazil and was destroyed. The captain then was Isaac Hull, an old seaman."

"It was in the war of 1812, the second war of Independence, that 'Old Ironsides' rendered such splendid service."

vice and did much towards winning the war.
"After 1820 'Old Ironsides' was not used much but was put in the Boston Navy Yard. In 1830 Congress brought up an act to tow the old ship out to mid ocean and sink it but Oliver Wendell Holmes, then a young man, wrote a poem 'Old Ironsides' that so stirred the members and instead of sinking it they had it repaired. She made her last voyage across the Atlantic in 1874.

"Now again the old ship needs repairing and instead of taking the money out of the treasury the Navy is asking the school children of America to donate the money. There are two reasons why the Navy wants the school children to do this. One—the Navy wants the school children of America to donate money for this purpose because they want to see how many children are patriotic enough to give some of their savings to repair that old ship that was such a good one during the olden days. Although it lacks a great deal of being as large as modern battleships, still the United States likes to keep it. It would take over three hundred of the kind like 'Old Ironsides' to overcome a battleship of today. Too—the navy wants the school children of America to donate money for this purpose just for the sake of rebuilding the old relic which for over 100 years has lain idle in the Boston Navy Yard.

"If the children that have donated any amount of money to rebuild the ship ever chance to go to Boston, they can go to see 'Old Ironsides' and say 'I helped to rebuild that grand old ship.'"

Lion Roars

Enthusiasm and pep are the two main features of the Lion practice sessions this week. The spirit of the club is unchanged by the action of the League in forfeiting all games after the Lions had won the championship of this end of the district. If anything the squad is more determined to win than they were in the early part of the season.

The field hardly looks the same with Captain Robinson absent. The little captain's absence is noticeable. Coach Baggett is drilling Ralph Parker at the center position, and the stocky lad is showing up well. Lewis will probably be Baggett's choice for substitute center.

Captain Robinson will be missed chiefly in games when his team is on the defensive. Sport writers all over this section of the state are agreed that Robinson is easily the outstanding defensive center of northwest Texas this season. It will be hard to find a player that can play roving center on the defensive and turn in the results that Robinson was capable of turning in.

Roy Key may be Baggett's choice for the roving defensive player. Key's defensive work has been good in all games this year and he seems to be the logical man to take Captain Robinson's place. Key's tackling is hard and accurate. In case he is shifted to roving center when the Lions are on the defensive, Parker will doubtless take Key's position at guard.

There's no doubt about it, the high collar is the smart way to treat your neck this season. Here is a new style that was noticed on a Paris import that recently made its way over here.

If Robinson's place can be adequately filled, Baggett will doubtless be able to place a stronger team on the field next Monday than he has used at any time this year. During the past week while the eligibility of certain players on the Lion squad was being protested, the Lion mentor let his squad take it easy, and the club seems to have a better spirit since the rest. Vernon has another advantage in that while the Coyotes and Tigers are battling Wednesday, the local club will be practicing. The team that wins in Wednesday's affray will have little time to recuperate any strength it may lose because of injuries. Vernon should be in the best of condition next Monday.

What Our Neighbors Are Doing

A certain man in a nearby town, with reputation fine, builds houses well or not at all—we need more of his kind. He seems a bit old fashioned and goes his gait and way, but when that man does build a house—oh, boy! Its there to stay. For he won't slight the smallest thing—each brick and board and brace must for its purpose be the best, else he fires it off the place. He knows of but one way to build, your only wasting time to ask Joe Laird to slight a job—he's simply not that kind. So Joe'll be there for many years to ply his trade, we hope, for he won't have to leave the town to keep from going broke. Joe likes to build with Long-Bell boards he gladly tells the nation, but the big thing he builds in a house—is Joe Laird's reputation.

The neighborhoods of more than 100 Long-Bell yards furnish the incidents being related under the above headline—actual names not used.
